I WANT YOUR TEXT

FIVE TEXTS EVERY GUY SECRETLY WANTS

Sad but true: Most of us are offensively boring via text ("wut up?"). It doesn't have to be this way. Dating guru Matthew Hussey suggests new texting strategies that will really vibrate in his pants.

I'm at that new lounge that just opened. The music is amazing. Why aren't you here?

WHY IT'S HOT: He'll see that you live a cool life and feel like he's missing out on the fun. If he likes you, he'll respond. If not, there's really nothing here for him to reject!

It's a good thing you're just my friend's brother or you and I would be trouble for each other.....

WHY IT'S HOT: Making the two of you together seem like a bad idea (for all the right reasons) will drive him wild with desire. Thank me later for the massive sexual tension at parties.

Just saw The Avengers. Chris Evans is pretty, but I'd rather watch you take your shirt off for an hour.

WHY IT'S HOT: It's a great tease that lets him know you're having naughty thoughts about him. Plus, he'll feel special knowing you'd rather see him naked than a ripped celebrity.

WHY IT'S HOT: Saying your burger was arousing shows you can find the hotness anywhere. He'll be strangely turned on next time he orders a Quarter Pounder.

You. Me. Tonight. Game of Thrones. Pizzas. Be there.

WHY IT'S HOT: You never ask if he wants to come. A confident woman just assumes that he does. The easy way to make your texts "sewer" Lose the question marks.

MY TECHNIQUES WORKED FOR THESE WOMEN, AND THEY WILL WORK FOR YOU TOO!

“You gave me so much confidence because I felt like you really understood me and the mistakes I was making. After a few weeks I worked up the courage to start a conversation. I just have to tell you I was so tickled with myself for not overreacting and immediately planning out our future!!

I focused myself in the here and now and just being my awesome sexy self I always wanted to be. As it turns out, we had a lot in common and in three conversations he asked me out. I used the tips for the areas I knew I needed help with, but while I was focusing solely on date to date, it turned out HE was the one thinking about our future.

We’ve now been together for 7 months and engaged for two of those!!!!!! :) And of course you’re invited to our wedding if you can make it!”

- Amanda

“I tried your texts.....the “yawwwwn” one when he only talks about being busy at work.....the “this burger almost tasted better than sex!”. They work!

I am happily dating the best guy ever! We met on Match.com and you helped me get things to the next level!!! Best thing so far this year was discovering the great relationship perspectives of Matthew Hussey!”

- Genevieve

‘I Have 3 Dates Within 1 Week Of Using Your Skills’

“I’m 54 and have 3 jobs so I thought I had no time for men and so had no men around. Then as my last child was 17, I wanted to get back into the scene and had no idea how.

You showed me how to make time to look in the right places. So, within one week of using the skills I learned and actively used, this weekend I have 3 dates and had to turn 2 away. So I went from 4 years with nothing, to more than I can see.

To other women out there I would say, give the advice in the program a try. Try to believe in yourself and approach guys with the skills learned - it gets easier as you work with your own voice and confident body language.”

- Polly

‘A Common Sense Approach’

“Just wanted to say a big thank you for all of your advice. In truth, there are dozens of sources out there that claim to know what they are talking about, but your program has been really beneficial.

I am a psychologist that has worked with various people with various issues, but it has taken me a while to sort out the romantic relationships in my own life.

Your common sense, practical approach has helped me to be in an amazing relationship that I have been in for four months now. He is great and different from any other relationship I have ever been in, in a good way. Your advice to never settle helped me with this.”

- Corina

‘I Met My Mr. Right’

“So there I was clock ticking and me going into my 36th year with no clue as to how I was going to attract the next love in my life and, better yet, how to attract Mr. Right.

I started out doing what most women do. I hit the dating sites and went on endless coffee-dates meeting nice guys and a couple of dogs too (even married ones looking for excitement - a fact they only disclose after the fact).

Being of a persistent nature I refused to let this get me down and I searched the internet to find out how to meet the right guys and I came across your advice.

I met my Mr. Right and Paul is the type of man I only used to dream about as I always thought he and his kind would go for some model type. He is fun, handsome, inspiring, kind, goodhearted, successful, well educated, wealthy and brave!”

- Hanna

For example, last night this UK guy got my number and he just texted me this morning to go for dinner, this Italian guy at the gym keeps coming over and asking me what I'm up to over the weekend, another Czech guy and I actually went on a few dates, we kissed and all but before it got any further, I had to make up some white lie to say sorry buddy, it's best we don't take this any further.

Then I had a French and a South African guy ask me out on Facebook after I met them at some event and, again, I had to say no. And there have been more! And this all happened within the last few weeks.

I'm having SO MUCH FUN meeting new men. And I'm also feeling SO much better about life and my love life in particular. I'm divorced, 36. As much as I get out and do sports and meet people, I hadn't done it in the way you suggested (as frequently or as well!) and now I'm totally enjoying it and feeling very positive.

So... THANK YOU MATT! Honestly, you've changed my life already."

- Huenu

'In The Last Three Days Two Guys Gave Me Their Numbers!'

"I am having such great fun flirting and having better conversations. I also joined my local walking group and on my first walk I worked the group and had a lot of attention. I had a great conversation with a guy I liked where I set him the task of advising me on the walk to do on my 40th birthday (Striding Edge or Scafell Pike).

He said 'that is a great question!' and then went on to tell me his all-time favorite walk, so I guess he associated me with good thoughts at that point in time.

In the last three days, two guys gave me their numbers!"

- Claire

‘I Already Have 4 Guys Pursuing Me’

“OMG Matthew Hussey, you just made a monster!

I’ve been in this course only for 2 weeks and I already have 4 guys pursuing me. I don’t know how to deal with this! Now I need to learn how to tell a guy that I’m not that interested without hurting their feelings.”

- Barbara

‘I Feel Freer And More Empowered’

“I used the tips on flirting and being more sociable, playing a new role, trying things out and communicating with guys like never before. I met new people, I had new relationships and came up against some huge life lessons in the process.

In the last few weeks I have had more male and female attention than I’ve ever gotten in my life. I feel freer and more empowered about myself than ever before. I have made peace with so many parts of myself and come to like myself and love myself more than I ever had before.

I see that I am able to be kind, encouraging, loving and fun to be around and I’m getting so much affirmation of this. I’ve made so many new friends and awakened old friendships.”

- Rebecca

‘In Less Than A Week I Can Already See A Tremendous Improvement’

“In less than a week of applying your lessons I can already see a tremendous improvement in how men react to me and vice versa.

I am going out with a few guys off and on, and there is one in particular that stands out. He and I are both very into our jobs (he has 2, and I juggle 3). Last week, we had made tentative plans to get together Thursday, but that didn't work out, so we tried Friday, and that didn't work out either.

I felt very "put off" at the last minute (we had said 8pm and he bailed on me at about 7:45pm) and I was crushed. I thought it was his roundabout way of telling me that he wasn't interested.

He attempted to contact me around 9pm that same night, but I ignored his call (because I was out with another guy who had called me earlier that day for drinks), and chose not to call him back because I was still feeling hurt and rejected.

I watched and listened to all of your videos again. And one of my high-value girlfriends told me "He WILL call you." And he did Thursday morning. Normally, I would be a bit bitchy and snarky with someone who had treated me so 'horribly.' But I was determined to do something I had never done before.

I was as sweet as you could possibly imagine. And it turns out that things went absolutely haywire at his second job, and his entire weekend was a mess. We talked about getting together the next day. The conversation was absolutely fantastic. I hung up with an entirely different frame of mind.

Later that afternoon I was surprised when he called me again and said, "I can't wait until tomorrow - what are you doing tonight?" I was very pleasantly shocked. Guys never call me and say those sorts of things.

We met for a terrific dinner and catch-up last night, and still have plans for tonight. He really is one of these 'good guys,' you know? In the past I always screw up the good things, but not this time.

I still can't believe he called me and said that. Never in my life has a man ever said that to me. Amazing. It never would have happened without you. Thank you, thank you, thank you times a million!"

- Carolyn

'I'm Dating A Man Beyond My Wildest Dreams'

"I met a guy who I never thought would be attracted to me in my wildest dreams as 'I had chosen him' so to speak. He is the type of guy I would want to introduce to my family and even possibly marry. I began speaking to him and now we have been dating for several weeks.

I have been asking questions in order to see his values (and whether they are in line with mine) and have been able to really get to know him before becoming intimate and starting a relationship.

I look forward to continuing to grow and be the best possible person I can be... And having a relationship I never could have dreamed of."

- Janelle

'I Now Feel A Lot More Powerful'

"Thanks to your advice, I somehow started meeting people. Now looking back they were always around but I didn't engage with them. I started becoming braver about reaching out to people.

Through your really simple trick of asking people 'why' instead of the standard getting to know you questions, I got into some really good conversations and made real connections. Eventually I started connecting people with each other and hosting events. Now I'm meeting people (including new guys) all the time. People reach out to me and introduce me to others. I'm currently a very proud 'hub.'

I'm still single but I feel totally different than I've felt before. I'm interacting with guys differently. I've become more flirty. Where before I'd diffuse sexual tension any chance I'd get, now I just let it sit there and probably for the first time in my life I understand what it means when people say 'I have chemistry with someone.'

I've also been treated in a non-'friend zone' way by more guys than ever before. I now feel a lot more powerful - like I actually can do something to end up in a relationship. And I have hope."

- Tala

'I Was Extremely Shy With Men'

"I am an introvert and am extremely shy when it comes to interacting with men I find attractive.

The other night I was out to dinner with my friend and I saw an attractive man having dinner at the bar. I decided to order my drink at the bar instead of getting it from the waitress at our table just so I could grab the chance to talk to the guy.

OK, that decision in and of itself is so much progress for me. Guess what? I used the strategies that I learned from you and struck up a conversation with the guy. I brought out my feminine and flirty self, which I used to be too shy to show.

I cannot describe the ego boost I got from the success of this interaction. He flirted back and we had a great chat. It was awesome.

Now I feel more empowered and more confident than ever. I look for opportunities to interact with men - even if it's just to practice my new skills.

Thank you, Matthew. I know that I am allowing myself to blossom into the confident and feminine woman I know I am and that very exciting things are in the making now.”

- Megan

“A favorite of mine is using the whole fantasy dialogue in texting. It really gets a guy thinking about you in a different way. I’ve been putting into practice so many of the things you’ve taught me that I can fill up every night with a date.”

- Illana

‘I Got Married!’

“I implemented all you taught me strictly. Little did I know that on May 3rd I met the love of my life. On October 4th, we got married. My husband and I are very happy together, and I also find that your advice is great for married life. Keep up your great work.”

- Mo

CHAPTER 11

How to Tease a Guy to Create Uncontrollable Desire

Ever find when you meet a REALLY cute guy it's impossible to flirt and just be yourself?

That's what kept happening to Elizabeth, a client of mine.

Elizabeth had a passion for anything artistic and loved to paint at the weekends. Mark, her date, said on his online profile that he was crazy about books and all things cultural. A perfect match! The odds were in her favour. Or that's what she thought...

Here's what happened in Elizabeth's words:

"Mark arrived at the bar, and I was instantly relieved that he looked like his profile pic. Square jaw, well-built, great smile, exactly my type.

He confidently went straight in for a hug. I squeaked out a 'hi' and tried to think of what to say as we ordered our drinks.

The conversation was pretty easy going. We had a ton of similar interests – reading, yoga, geeking out on Game of Thrones – but as the date went on it felt like we were talking as friends. I kept asking ordinary questions like: 'So...when did you last go on vacation?'

At one point I thought about making a risqué joke about the time I painted nude models in my art class, but nothing came out and I missed the moment.

When he smiled, I wanted to compliment his cute dimples, but I worried it would sound too forward and choked again. I couldn't get out of my head, analysing every little thing I was about to say, losing my nerve every time.

The date ended with us walking around a local market, but I couldn't tell if he was into me and I'm pretty sure he didn't know I was attracted to him.

We said goodbye with a peck on the cheek, and that was it. I wanted to encourage him to make a move, but I hadn't been flirty at all and it felt weird to make something happen out of nowhere.

It was missing the spark, and I knew I was 50% to blame because I never took any risks and stayed in my shell the whole date."

Turn on His "Desire" Switch – Use the Extra 5%

Elizabeth's story reminded me of something important: it can be very dangerous to play it too safe in love.

Being mild-mannered, passive, not rocking the boat...all of these things stop us from flirting with the person we REALLY like.

The ability to be a great flirt isn't some holy magic or a natural gift people are blessed with: it's in that 5% extra risk that makes a guy really feel attraction and think of you as more than a friend.

One of the best ways to become great at flirting with guys is to start TEASING.

If you've ever had a cute guy playfully tease you in just the right way, you'll know exactly what I mean. It probably produced an instant and intense attraction which made you want to be close to him (and maybe even grab him if you were being honest!).

There's no one way to tease a guy, and in a moment I'll give you a bunch of different ways to do it. Suffice it to say that teasing is a way to give a guy some playful bait to react to.

Once you combine the 'teasing' techniques I give you below with techniques on GETTING HIM TO OPEN UP (Chapter 21) and PLAYING TO HIS MASCULINITY (Chapter 24), you'll notice a guy will find himself inexplicably drawn to you after just a few encounters.

The beauty of teasing is that it allows you to create more of a vibe with a guy in 8 seconds than most people do in 8 hours, just by knowing what to say in certain situations.

Suppose, for example, you're out with a guy and it turns out you both share a love of cooking. You can say to him:

"Well, baking is my specialty. So I'm warning you: don't challenge me there."

Then if he jokes around and brags about his skills, you can say:

"Hmmm I'm not sure...maybe I can trial you as my assistant chef first..."

If he takes the bait, you can extend the joke further by saying:

“You have strong arms, so you at least should be able to do the mixing when I get tired.”

Or you could say with a wink in your tone:

As another example, suppose he mentions that he saw your holiday photos on your Facebook profile.

“Now, you weren’t just looking for my photos of me in a swimsuit, were you?”

This is what teasing is at its best: you’re just lightly poking a guy in a way that challenges him whilst giving him a little smile as well.

Notice how teasing is like a wink and a nudge at the same time. You throw out the bait and give him a chance to catch it and chase you even more.

Other Ways to Get Him to Notice You with Teasing

Once I was with a girlfriend and went on a long, rambling monologue about a certain movie director, explaining all the reasons I liked certain films of his and not others.

At one point she said, “I totally agree, but can I just say at this moment that I’ve never seen someone get this passionate and serious about films. I’m really enjoying watching you in Mr. Serious mode right now.”

As she said it, she did a little impression of me being serious by narrowing her eyes and mimicking my face.

I immediately caught myself and got a little embarrassed when she said it. Noticing my self-consciousness, she said, “Noooo, I liked it! I just thought it was super cute how into it you were. Carry on with what you were saying, I love it!”

This is teasing at its best: a combination of INTEREST and a sprinkle of playful CHALLENGE.

Here are some other ways to combine these two qualities to your advantage:

1. Be affectionate with it – This is a golden rule, and it’s really the secret to joking around without offending someone.

Imagine he trips over in front of you and feels embarrassed. Maybe he says, “I can’t believe I did that, how embarrassing.” Instead of laughing at him, you can respond:

“No, it was so adorable because you’re usually so smooth the rest of the time.”

2. Imply that he’s trouble (in a good way) – If he texts you in the middle of the day, you can write back:

“I’m not supposed to text while I’m at work, yet you keep tempting me to pull out my phone. I knew you were trouble.”

3. Imply he misses you – Maybe you missed a couple of his calls and then when you ring him back he says:

“I’ve been trying to get through to you all day,” to which you can respond:

“Aww, did you miss me? I miss you too.” (Said in a sweet but playful way.)

You could alternatively reply:

“Aww, does this mean you have a full-on crush on me?” (Said to a guy you are more familiar with, so he knows you’re kidding.)

Or, when he says he’s been trying to call you all day, you can respond:

“I know, I’ve been so busy. I’ve barely had time to talk to anyone all day. Luckily for you you’re the one person I find it hard to resist.”

4. Learn to banter with him – Let’s say you’re both having a conversation about where you’d like to travel in the world. He says he wants to live in South America. Then he jokes that you should come with him, swim on the beach all day, and live by the ocean.

You can respond:

“That sounds great. But if you see me in my bikini you may not let me go home.”

Another route to good banter is to pretend-joke about stuff he never does for you anymore. For example, even if it's only your second date and you walk past someone getting a back rub from her boyfriend, you could say to your guy:

“Ah, you never rub my back anymore.”

This is a fun way to joke around with him and pretend like you're a couple already, even though you're only on a second date.

The key with this is to show affection whilst keeping the tone fun and silly – occasionally throwing in a challenge here and there.

Now you're teasing him in a way that instead of making him defensive, only makes him more desperate to please you!

Warning! Be the Alluring Goddess, NOT His Bratty Sister

One more disclaimer on this because I've seen this kind of playful banter go horribly wrong, so for the record, let me be clear:

Teasing is NOT mocking.

There are some people out there who think of the word “teasing” and immediately assume that it means making fun of a guy, exposing his insecurities and joking at his expense.

You might be under the illusion that poking fun of a guy makes you seem confident and funny, but it really just makes him see you as his bratty sister.

When you mock him, you put him on the defensive, which kills your allure.

A real tease is supposed to be playful, not mocking. It's like a little poke that makes him want to poke back, but it should never sound like a targeted insult.

For example, if he momentarily forgets what the capital of Italy is, and you laugh at him in front of others and say,

“That’s so dumb, I can’t believe you could forget something like that!”

It kills his affectionate feelings towards you in that moment.

Teasing isn’t bringing a guy down; it’s about challenging him so that he wants to impress you EVEN more.

Another huge mistake I see women making is acting sceptical when a guy tells her his ambitions and hopes for the future. He says, “I want to build a big enough company that I could live in two different countries. I’d love to be able to travel between two houses”, and she’ll respond:

“Really? That’s kind of hopeful isn’t it?”

This kind of thing stings his ego, even though he may do a good job of hiding it. Worst of all, it may close him down from opening up to you again if he feels like he’ll be made fun of for his future aspirations.

Remember, in flirting, guys respond to hearing a level of INTEREST combined with that playful CHALLENGE.

Mix these two together and you have a powerful combination, but remember to do both, as shown in the examples above.

For LONG-TERM attraction, you'll need to combine this with showing you have boundaries and self-respect (e.g. Chapter 30 on the "High-Value Response to the Booty Call") and making him feel like a man (see, for example, the "Hero Technique" in Chapter 22; see also Chapter 24).

Remember, anyone can do generic small talk, but flirtatious teasing is the spark that lights the fireworks lurking beneath the surface.

It's only 5% more than you are doing now, but it's the 5% that makes ALL the difference.
